APPLICATION FOR REVOCATION OF SECTION 181 SUSPENSION

The Victorian Building Authority (VBA) may at any time revoke the suspension of a building practitioner's registration where their registration has been suspended under section 181 of the Building Act 1993 (the Act). The VBA will only revoke a suspension if the VBA is satisfied that the practitioner is capable of practising as a building practitioner.

Under Section 181A of the Act a suspended building practitioner is entitled to apply to the VBA for the revocation of their suspension. The VBA will consider all applications made in good faith. However, the VBA will not consider an application that it considers to be frivolous, vexatious or lacking in substance.

Notwithstanding any decision by the VBA to revoke a suspension under section 181A of the Act, the VBA may make a subsequent decision under section 181 of the Act to suspend a building practitioner's registration at any time.

Please provide a detailed explanation of why you believe the VBA should revoke your suspension:

The VBA will only revoke the suspension of a building practitioner’s registration if it is satisfied that the registered building practitioner is capable of practising as a building practitioner. The VBA therefore requires this application to be accompanied by all evidence relevant to the ability of the building practitioner to practise including but not limited to:

- information that establishes why the original grounds for suspension under section 181 of the Act no longer apply;
- AND
- relevant reports, or certificates of capacity, from a professional medical practitioner(s).
